KLAMATH FALLS, SATURDAY EVENING, AUGUST 29, 1908

THE RAMBLER.

So our George has landed the Judicial plum. I am glad of it, for George Noland is a prince among men. He has long been a resident of this county, but in these days of rapid growth he may not be classed as an old timer. During his residence here he has made a host of friends and they do not care whether he is a Democrat or a Republican. They are glad that he was appointed for he is well qualified for the position and will undoubtedly make a just Judge and have the united support of the local bar. For nearly a quarter of a century Mr. Noland has been a practitioner at the Oregon bar and during that time has been connected with many noted cases and pitted against some of the ablest lawyers in the state. That he acquitted himself in a manner that brought him fame and a goodly supply of worldly goods is well known. Now that he has been elevated to the bench it is a fitting climax to a brilliant career and one that affords his friends much pleasure.

Did you know that there are a good many people in this town who are wondering who the Rambler is? I have even discussed the question myself with many and there are few who select the same man. None of them have guessed right and it is dollars to doughnuts that they never will. It would spoil a good thing if they did, for they might hesitate to talk as freely as they now do, when I came around. You know that I said I would be glad to get letters from anyone who had a grievance. I have received two already and both were on the same subject. There was no grievance in either, simply good words of cheer. They were commendations on the first article I wrote about the curbstoners. As one wrote, "hit the nail on the head and I hope you will hit it again—twice in the same place." Well, I will, and more than twice. I am gathering a lot of data about some of the eminent gentlemen of this town who have been making it a practice to eulchre the stranger wherever they got a chance and I want to tell you that I am getting some mighty interesting information. Some of it may be a little ancient, but like eggs of that character, it is mighty strong.

Now that we are going to have a carnival, let us hope that everyone will get in and make it a success. When the proposition was first spoken—I think it was over a year ago at a meeting of the Chamber of Commerce—I then thought it was a good thing. But it seems it was opposed for various reasons. It has been discussed pro and con all summer and finally it was taken up by a few of the business men of the town. Let every business man take a hand now and make it easy for those who have started the wheel and also add to its success. This carnival should not be the last one. It should be an annual affair. If the committee has any funds left over it ought to remain in the hands of the treasurer for use next year, and when the county fair is being held, then the street carnival should be on at the same time. It gives the people something to do in the evening. I have discussed this feature with a few business men and they all agree that this should be so. The one thing, however, that is first on the program is to make the carnival this year a success.

I heard a man commenting this morning on the article I wrote about the condition of the county roads, and I must confess that I felt flattered. "That cuss knows what he is talking about," he said. "I have been over these roads for a good many years and I must confess that I never saw anything to equal that portion that has been repaired by Phillips. He thinks he is doing the proper thing, I guess, but when the rains come then there is something going to happen, only it will be to the fellow who has to pull through it with a heavy load. I doubt if even a light buggy will be able to get through."

I had to laugh at this here about the Asphalt road, Lord, but that is a hoot. Look at it now, and it is better than it ever was before, and yet the people have to take to the sage brush.

What has happened to the Tort to gather an exhibit for the Seattle fair. I have not heard a word about it for some time. No one seems to know if anything is being done along this line. I have spoken to several people and they seem to think that the other fellow is doing something. The fair is going to be held next year and if this county has an exhibit, now is the time to get it ready. It never will do to send next year's stuff for it will be too late. I believe that the fair is held from the middle of June to the middle of October. The best months will be August and September. That is the time when most of the people will be there and you know that Klamath cannot send anything from here for that period, unless it is collected this year. I am going to poke around and see what I can find out relative to the feeling on this question. To my mind it is very important for this county to be properly represented.

Speaking of expositions, it reminds me of the Sacramento Congress, when Klamath county cleaned up the bunch. Everyone was proud of the result, but how few realized that it was the work of two men—Judge Baldwin and Frank Ira White. Of course, they had some help, but they got right in and dug, especially the Judge. If there ever was a booster from Boostertown then that gentleman is Judge Baldwin. When he takes the bit in his teeth something is going to start and it is not going to stop until the cargo is delivered. Whenever he goes out of town there is an echo of Klamath in his wake, and that echo keeps increasing until it gets to be a regular cyclone that sweeps good things into the lap of Klamath. Here's to your health, Judge, may you live long and prosper and never get tired boosting for Klamath.

MILLS ADDITION LOTS are Advancing in Value

When blocks in Mills Addition were offered at bargain prices a number of shrewd investors bought; since that time values have increased materially.

These Lots are Bargain Buys

at present prices, and there is every reason to anticipate an advance in prices. Remember these lots are FIFTY feet in width and ONE HUNDRED AND TWENTY FEET deep—more than double the area of most town lots offered to investors.
